TRICAT

TRICAT 20

At the La Rochelle show you will be able to see the new boat from Tricat, with this 20-foot trimaran, which will allow you to scour the different stretches of water and discover creeks which are inaccessible to bigger boats. The Tricat 20 was designed by Antoine Houdet and Jack Michal, with the aim of allowing nice day sailing or sporty but comfortable coastal 'raids'. Aboard, we find once again the 25's folding system, which has proved itself, and for the accommodation, a double berth for the parents and two berths for the children. Enough to go sailing as a family and enjoy life, whilst having great fun at the helm!

TS5

The shipyard at Marsaudon Composites loves fast boats designed for cruising. At La Rochelle you're going to be able to discover the TS5, a very fast cruising boat, which is very sexy.

The boat which really won us over when we tested it (see Multihulls World 160) with an XXL-sized feel, offering a great quality of life on board. But most importantly, it's this catamaran's double personality which will seduce you: it appeals just as much to racers as it does to their families... Note that the yard has just launched the all-new TS3, a truly original model, still designed by Christophe Barreau. We're talking about a catamaran which can be dismantled and transported in a 40 foot container. It is designed for coastal cruising or even semi-offshore work.

MARSAUDON

40 OPEN SUNREEF POWER

As in previous years, Sunreef is going to have a festival at Cannes, and will be presenting five catamarans, including three beautiful (and big) new boats! The 40 Open Sunreef Power is a distinctive boat in the builder's range, as it is more like a sport boat. This original boat is going to be presented at Cannes in an exclusive version with diamond-based hull paint (!!!!!) and Mercury Racing 860 propulsion. In its most powerful version, the 40 Open can reach 60 knots, with a cruising speed of 35 knots. A boat which should be all the rage at Cannes...

SUNREEF 60 ET 80 VOILE

The brand-new Sunreef range announced last year at Cannes will be presented in 2018 at this same show, with not one, but two catamarans. The builder is in fact presenting the Sunreef 80 and the Sunreef 60 for their world premiere at Cannes. The idea of this new range is to find again the spirit of the classic sailing boats, but using modern architecture and a high-tech construction. The volume here is the key feature, and the liveability is quite simply exceptional, whether on the 60 or even more so on the 80-footer. As always at Sunreef, the catamarans that you will be able to admire at Cannes are just the results of their owners' choices, as the builder offers almost infinite possibilities for customizing these boats. See them at Cannes, and at Miami for the sailing Sunreef 80.
