NEW LAYOUTS

Sunreef Yachts' new power cat GAs

Sunreef Yachts' has introduced a completely new solution for the layout of its 60' and 70' power catamarans based on client feedback. Owners now have four layouts to choose from, with the forward master cabin now available split into two twin cabins instead for charter. Both these options also include a galley up or galley down option that places the galley on the main deck, or within one of the hulls.

This development comes just months after Sunreef Yachts' interior design team changed the layout of the main deck to include a semi open or fully open design. A fully open salon gives the main deck direct access to the forward cabins, while a semi open design has the mezzanine deck helm station in-between.

Sunreef is represented in the region by Pawel Jachec (pawel@sunreef-yachts.com, + 971 567 457 518).

Mulder 94 joined

Hull and superstructure joined, outfitting begins

The Mulder Shipyard has announced that the hull and superstructure of BN97, project Firefly, have been joined together, marking a milestone in the construction of this new model. The all aluminium yacht is due to be delivered to her owner in mid-2014, with outfitting of her interior due to begin as Yachts went to print. Both the interior and exterior were designed by Frank Laupman of Omega Architects, while Vripack Naval Architects are responsible for the Naval architecture. The Mulder 94 Voyager will be built to RINA classification and is equipped with twin Caterpillar C18-1150hp engines for a top speed of 18-knots.
